EBITDA for this period was € 25m, 18% higher, and EBIT (or net operating result) € 14m, 32% more than in 2019.

The good results come at a time of profound business transformation. For the CEO of DOMINION, Mikel Barandiaran: "Our knowledge and experience improving the efficiency of our clients' processes puts us in a position to take advantage of the business trends such as digitization and sustainability, that has only accelerated with the arrival of the pandemic. After the hardest months of the health crisis, we are growing for the second consecutive quarter and this tailwind will continue driving our growth in the future".

DOMINION continues to expand its backlog of projects for the coming years, improving its growth forecasts. It also highlights the recovery of its B2B Services segment, one of the most affected by the global lockdown measures, with a 15% growth in sales compared to the first quarter of 2020. Sales are mainly driven by awarded contracts in the Energy area, both in the renewable and utilities areas, which already account for 20% of the B2B activity.

In view of these results, DOMINION has updated upwards the guidelines for the current year, where it expects to grow above the objectives set in its strategic plan in all the figures and to maintain its financial health and strong generation of operating cash flow.
